

Agriculture

Alan Corbett

1. Will you or your party undertake to investigate the cost of rural insurance and ensure the price is sustainable for the future of agriculture?

I would support a committee inquiry into this issue.

2. Would you or your party consider removing stamp duty from all rural insurance products?

This is not within my power to decide. If approached I would listen to those concerns and act on behalf of my residents.

Bree Watson

The Labor Government can't be trusted to support Queensland's $23 billion agriculture industry because they've failed to deliver a long-term plan for water security, biosecurity, pest management and ag jobs.

The Paradise Dam debacle and Labor's failure to develop a long-term water security plan has forced producers to plough-in crops and without the security they need to plant future crops.

Labor's sky-high electricity and ballooning water prices are driving-up costs up for producers and prices up for Queenslanders

The LNP will invest in agricultural industries to develop new technology and new markets for regional Queensland.

We'll support industry-led state of the art agricultural training that will address skills shortages and drive the ag jobs of the future.

We'll deliver water security for our producers so they can continue to grow the food for Queensland's future.

Let me be clear, the LNP will rebuild Paradise Dam to reinstate it to its original 100 percent capacity.

We will also investigate what legislative triggers can be applied to fast track the construction of this dam.

Labor's '10-year delay plan' will not cut it for our region.

For further information:

If you want to know anything more or more specific information about my position and the LNP position, please visit our website for The Right Plan:

<https://online.lnp.org.au/therightplan>